Mr. W. T. Emory, of New York city, one of the most successful buyers and probably the best special sale manager in the country, assisted by an active and efficient corps of clerks and salesladies, will be in full charge of this MILL REMNANT SALE. For weeks Mr. Emory has been ransacking the mill centers and big dry goods emporiums of the North, and his efforts have secured for us a truly magnificent array. It is CHEATWOOD'S purpose to make this by long odds the greatest special sale ever conducted in Richmond. Our regular stock has been disposed of to the best advantage on the special sale counters, but greater than all other offerings will be the MILL REMNANTS, in the securing of which the active minds of the most active buyers in the country have been taxed to the uttermost. The sale, which began last Friday, is so vastly superior to other attempted similar sales, that a comparison is out of the question. You must gaze upon our counters and at our shelves, piled high with towering masses of the choicest fabrics, to appreciate the magnitude of our offering.

FAST CROWDS have called at our store, but the MILL REMNANT SALE is hardly started yet. We don't want you to overlook the opportunity, and you should come now and witness the progressive spirit of THE GREAT MAIN-STREET DRY GOODS HOUSE.
